SALT LAKE CITY (Good4Utah) - The final days of open enrollment for Affordable Health Care in Utah are coming this weekend.

So far more than 159,000 Utahns have enrolled in new coverage on healthcare.gov.

The deadline for open enrollment for health insurance in Utah ends this Sunday.

After that, people will no longer be able to sign up for the insurance unless they experience life qualifying events.

Utah Health Policy Project is a nonprofit here in Utah offering help with open enrollment.

As of January 16th they have assisted more than 50,000 by helping them learn about health insurance, and sign up for free.

According to their findings 85% of the enrolled receive premium subsidies to make their coverage more affordable.

ACA enrollment has recently grown in cities like Lehi, South Jordan, Spanish Fork, and St. George.

As the deadline approaches the UHPP expects to be busy.

24% of all people covered by ACA insurance in Utah are kids.

Utah is enrolling more kids age 0-18 than any state in country, and at a rate that is 2.67 times the national average.

Utahns can get free in-person assistance by visiting takecareutah.org or by calling 211.
