WASHINGTON — Saturday from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Utahns living in Washington County can get free help finding health insurance that works for them at the “St. George Family Festival and Health Event,” sponsored by the Southern Utah Pacific Islander Coalition and Take Care Utah. The event will be held at the Washington County Community Center Reception Center located at 350 N. Community Center Dr. in Washington City.

This event takes place three weeks before the Jan. 31 end of open enrollment period to sign up for new and affordable health insurance plans. This Saturday, families can review new health insurance plans and benefits, learn if their kids qualify for Medicaid or CHIP insurance and discover if they qualify for financial assistance to make their insurance more affordable.

Trained experts will be available to answer questions and help people sign up for a plan that works best for them. All services are free.

Event activities

- Free help finding health insurance provided by trained navigators and assistants
- Free lunch
- Prize giveaways and a bounce house for kids

Utahns can find free, helpful assistance from Take Care Utah’s more than 100 enrollment experts located across the state. To find the nearest enrollment assistant, go online and enter a zip code, or call 211, the free information line operated by the United Way of Salt Lake.
