

National Health Reform Underway

---

Jun 22, 2009 by Elizabeth Ziegler KCPW

(KCPW News) Reforming the nation's health care system will be a mammoth task for Congress, but one that advocates and the Obama administration hope to complete by the fall. To get there, Congress must wade through the depths of health policy research. KCPW's Elizabeth Ziegler has the story:

Jessica Kendrick with the Utah Health Policy Project says her organization is a resource the public can use to navigate the complex proposals. The group will hold eight statewide meetings Tuesday. In Salt Lake County, the meetings will take place at the University of Utah's Health Sciences Building and in Murray at the Association for Utah Community Health. They run from 4 to 6 p.m. and will also be streamed online. Click here for more information.
