Part II-B - Description of Lobbying Activity

a. Volunteers and interns play a critical role in UHPP program activities; however, most of their activities involve background support (for example: data entry). During 2012 approximately 5% of volunteer and intern activities can be counted as lobbying. Most of this is grassroots lobbying. For example, they helped with phone banking intended to influence legislation. Very few interns come with us to the

Capital to lobby legislators directly.

b. Program staff activities are focused on non-partisan research, data collection, and policy analysis. Of these, a minimal portion (approximately 3-4% of program budgets, depending on the season) is countable as direct and grassroots lobbying.

Time spent on both types of lobbying activities is tracked using a monthly Excel timesheet tool created specifically for this purpose. This tool calculates minutes spent on both types of lobbying.

e. UHPP regularly produces publications related to health policy. We also write news releases that often result in media coverage. The content of our releases and statements is always non-partisan. On occasion we will comment on a specific piece of legislation or encourage radio listeners, for example, to contact their legislators. This type of activity is counted as grassroots lobbying activity and consumes.

g. The program staff has direct contact with legislators and other government officials, including health department officials. However, only a small portion of this is specifically countable as lobbying (either type). That which is lobbying consists of staff members communicating with legislators and other government officials with the purpose of maximizing the benefits of federal health reform on the state level.

Quality Watch & Take Care Utah: Take Care Utah (TCU) is a program hosted by the Utah Health Policy Project in collaboration with the United Way of Salt Lake, and 2-1-1.

Through extensive research UHPP found that a "No Wrong Door" approach to consumer assistance is the best way to help Utah residents get and keep affordable health care coverage. The "No Wrong Door" approach builds on the health care assistance already available in Utah by sharing best practices around the state. No matter where low-income uninsured Utah residents turn, they will find help finding and keeping coverage. Take Care Utah is designed to help community groups build their capacity to help individuals enroll in public and private programs, navigate their benefits, and make health reform implementation efforts a part of their scope of services. TCU also uses the day-to-day experience of TCU community partners with enrollment assistance to develop and refine policy for effective navigators in Utah. Partners in the TCU No Wrong Door network are also given the opportunity to learn about and prepare for the changes coming with full implementation of federal and state health reform.

Medicaid Policy Clinic: Federal reform uses different mechanisms to ensure all Americans have access to health care coverage. For low-income Americans, the reforms turn to Medicaid because it is the most cost-effective way to cover low-income working adults. Starting in January 2014, Utah Medicaid will expand from serving mainly children and people with disabilities, to a program that serves all Utahns in households earning less than 138% of poverty. In anticipation of this expansion, the Utah Legislature passed Senate Bill 180 Medicaid Reform in the 2011 session. This new law set about to reform the way Medicaid services are paid for and delivered in Utah through "accountable care." Right now we pay for each test, each procedure-whether the patient benefits or not. That gives the provider a perverse incentive to order more tests and perform more procedures than may be necessary. Accountable care pays the provider to make patients well and keep them healthy. This is better for patients-and for taxpayers. In 2012 the UHPP worked to maximize the opportunities within and beyond health care and Medicaid reform to strengthen the Medicaid program so that it can provide high quality care for current and future beneficiaries. UHPP made sure Medicaid was fully funded and also worked to defeat bad ideas for Medicaid like a proposal to require community service in exchange for Medicaid or PCN benefits and another proposal to increase cost sharing obligations for smokers enrolled in Medicaid.

Form 990, Part III, Line 4c - Program Service Accomplishments

Coverage Initiatives: Utah's leaders heard the cries for help from Utah small businesses and consumers around the need to address access, cost, and quality within our health care system. Utah embarked on state-level health system reform in 2008. Since then, 4 key pieces of legislation have shaped Utah's health system reforms. Federal health reform (the Affordable Care Act, or ACA) became the law of the land in 2010. Federal health reform complements the state's reform efforts-or fills in the gaps. During 2012 UHPP educated the Utah community about the reform changes through our "Implementation Station" and through presentations to business groups, students, provider groups, seniors, and rural communities. We also engaged policymakers in reform implementation and provided critical analysis on the results from state reform efforts. Wherever possible we worked to close the gaps between state and federal health reform.

Education: During 2012 we published numerous policy briefs containing educational content or policy recommendations related to health reform implementation and Medicaid (<http://www.healthpolicyproject.org/Publications2012.html>). All told, we held about 20 town halls, summits, press conferences, and educational training sessions attended by approximately 1,600 Utahns. Our Storybank grew significantly over 2012 (<http://www.healthpolicyproject.org/Storybank.html>) and we added educational content to our website (<http://www.healthpolicyproject.org/index.html>). We published our Health Matters newsletter (<http://www.healthpolicyproject.org/Healthmatters.html>) on a monthly basis during the interim season (April through November) and on a weekly basis during the Legislative Session. Finally, we educated the community about health reform through our work with the media (see 2012 NewsRoom: <http://www.healthpolicyproject.org/Newsroom2012.html>).
