

Do I need an ID to get the FREE COVID-19 vaccine?

Everyone can get vaccinated. You DON'T have to have health insurance, or be a US citizen or resident. You don't need a social security number to get vaccinated, but providers may ask for one so they can get reimbursed for vaccines.

If you don't remember your social security number or don't have one, you can just say "no" when they ask. They don't give any of your information to immigration or law enforcement.

The vaccine is FREE for everyone. If you have insurance, vaccine providers can bill your insurance a fee to give the shot, but you shouldn't be charged anything or be billed later on.

You have to bring something with you that has your name on it (like a photo ID, utility bill, or a signed letter from someone saying you are who you say you are).

Examples of some types of ID you could use that have your name on it:

Foreign issued government ID

School-issued ID

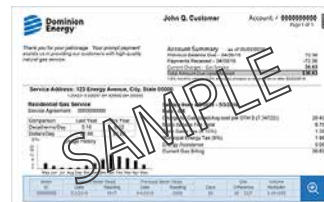

I-94

Expired driver's license or passport

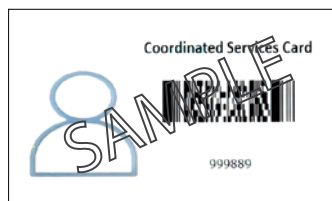

Driving privilege cards from another country

A utility bill

Any other document that has your name on it

Shelter ID
